on the basis of the current state of politics in south africa of corruption factionalism the use of politics as a means of accumulation all of which are abundant in the anc we have come to the conclusion that if the party does not make a serious u turn it will ruin itself and our country at the same time this will not go on forever for newer generations will to avoid further ruin act to bring about political change we have faith in the rational capacity of human beings even as we know that history reminds us that humankind can sometimes be foolish political governance in south africa has collapsed scandals of corruption evidence of nepotism rampant maladministration in provinces incompetence in public offices and a general decline in the quality of leadership are there for all to see in the authors view this state of affairs has its origins in the messiness and collapse of the african national congress as helplessness deepens in our society concerned citizens ask what will happen to south africa the fall of the anc continues what next seeks to answer this question of the fate that awaits the country

why are latin american cities amongst the most violent in the world over the past decades latin america has not only become the most urbanised of the regions of the so called global south it has also been the scene of the urbanisation of poverty and exclusion overall regional homicides rates are the highest in the world a fact closely related to the spread and use of firearms by male youths who are frequently involved in local and translocal forms of organised crime in response governments and law enforcements agencies have been facing mounting pressure to address violence through repressive strategies which in turn has led to a number of consequences law enforcement is often based on excessive violence and the victimisation of entire marginal populations thus the dynamics of violence have generated a widespread perception of insecurity and fear featuring much original fieldwork across a broad array of case studies this cutting edge volume focuses on questions not only of crime insecurity and violence but also of latin american cities ability to respond to these problems in creative and productive ways the handbook of children culture and violence provides a comprehensive interdisciplinary examination of childhood violence that considers children as both consumers and perpetrators of violence as well as victims of it this handbook is the first single volume to consider situations when children are responsible for violence rather than focusing exclusively on occasions when they are victimized the cross is central to understanding christian theology but is it possible that our postmodern setting requires a new model of understanding the cross hans boersma s violence hospitality and the cross proposes an understanding of the atonement that is sensitive both to the christian tradition and to the postmodern critiques of that tradition his fresh approach draws on the rich resources of the christian tradition in its portrayal of god s hospitality in jesus christ
