in the decades after world war ii the literary scene in australia flourished local writers garnered international renown and local publishers sought and produced more australian books the traditional view of this postwar period is of successful male writers with women still confined to the domestic sphere in nine lives susan sheridan rewrites the pages of history to foreground the women writers who contributed equally to this literary renaissance sheridan traces the early careers of nine australian women writers born between 1915 and 1925 who each achieved success between the mid 1940s and 1970s judith wright and thea astley published quickly to resounding critical acclaim while gwen harwood s frustration with chauvinistic literary editors prompted her pseudonymous poetry fiction writers elizabeth jolley amy witting and jessica anderson remained unpublished until they were middle aged rosemary dobson dorothy hewett and dorothy auchterlonie green started strongly as poets in the 1940s but either reduced their output or fell silent for the next twenty years sheridan considers why their careers developed differently from the careers of their male counterparts and how they balanced marriage family and writing this illuminating group biography offers a fresh perspective on mid twentieth century australian literature and the women writers who helped to shape it nine lives is the renowned autobiography of new zealand s most famous raf pilot from the munich crisis until the invasion of france in 1944 al deere experienced the drama of the early days of the battle of britain while operating with spitfire squadrons based at hornchurch and manston and his compelling story tells of the successes and frustrations during those critical weeks
