australia invoked the anzus alliance following the al qaeda attacks in the united states on 11 september 2001 but unlike the calls to arms at the onset of the world wars australia decided to make only carefully calibrated force contributions in support of the us led coalition campaigns in afghanistan and iraq why is this so niche wars examines australia s experience on military operations in afghanistan and iraq from 2001 to 2014 these operations saw over 40 australian soldiers killed and hundreds wounded but the toll since has been greater for afghanistan and iraq the costs are hard to measure why were these forces deployed what role did australia play in shaping the strategy and determining the outcome how effective were they why is so little known about australia s involvement in these campaigns what lessons can be learned from this experience niche wars commences with a scene setting overview of australia s military involvement in the middle east over more than a century it then draws on unique insights from many angles across a spectrum of men and women ranging from key australian decision makers practitioners and observers the book includes a wide range of perspectives in chapters written by federal government ministers departmental secretaries service commanders task force commanders sailors soldiers airmen and women international aid workers diplomats police journalists coalition observers and academics niche wars makes for compelling reading but also stands as a reference work on how and why australia became entangled in these conflicts that had devastating consequences if lessons can be learned from history about how australia uses its military forces this book is where to find them product description digesting history the u s naval war college the lessons of world war ii and future naval warfare 1945 1947 by professor hal m friedman studies the contribution of the naval war college especially in the presidency of admiral raymond spruance to strategic thought during the first critical postwar years that is between the end of the war and the formulation of containment this transition period is especially valuable as a window through which to explore institutions such as the college in transition from a hot war to a cold one while seminal studies exist of the college s work in the interwar years none have been published on this period as every one understands our conflict with mexico has been almost entirely eclipsed by the greater wars following it but in the field of thought mere size does not count for much and while the number of troops and the lists of casualties give the present subject little comparative importance it has ample grounds for claiming attention as a territorial stake new mexico arizona and california were of immense value national honor was involved and not a few of the mexicans thought their national existence imperilled some of the diplomatic questions were of the utmost difficulty and interest the clash of north and south american and mexican produced extraordinary lights and shades and in both countries the politics that lay behind the military operations made a dramatic and continual by play the military conduct of the governments especially our own and the behavior of our troops on foreign soil afforded instruction worthy to be pondered
