the tigre is an area of ethiopia about which relatively little is known this work takes a thorough look at this forgotten land at a time when its customs and traditions are about to fall prey to modernization

a horn is an instrument either for protection or destruction the horn in the horn of africa has for so long turned inward and on its people thus victimizing those it was supposed to defend the ensuing internecine bloodletting has thrown the region into an abyss out of which it is still struggling to emerge much of the story of this abyss is captured in social political economic and literary treatises written by indigenous and international experts rarely however has there been a single volume that brings together keen analyses of the expressive arts of djibouti eritrea ethiopia somalia and sudan the road less traveled is the first book of its kind it brings together in the same volume essays on the literatures of the horn of africa written by renowned regional and international scholars all the countries in the region their major writers and the genres through which the people in the horn express themselves are given careful attention the volume also includes essays that traverse borders and or transgress generic delineations delimitations the essays in the volume attest to a simple fact namely that through the arts humans weave a labyrinthine system of symbolic representations that bear witness to lives lived or imagined and while in the horn of africa catastrophes may abound the calamity that besets this region can equally be explained through its antiphony the perseverance and cosmic albeit cautious optimism of its people a horn after all is also a way of making music in eritrea state traditional and religious laws equally prevail but any of these legal systems may be put into play depending upon the individual or individuals involved in a legal dispute because of conflicting laws it has been difficult for eritreans to come to a consensus on what constitutes their legal system in blood land and sex lyda favali and roy pateman examine the roles of the state ethnic groups religious groups and the international community in several key areas of eritrean law blood feud or murder land tenure gender relations marriage prostitution rape and female genital surgery favali and pateman explore the intersections of the various laws and discuss how change can be brought to communities where legal ambiguity prevails often to the grave harm of women and other powerless individuals this significant book focuses on how eritrea and other newly emerging democracies might build pluralist legal systems that will be acceptable to an ethnically and religiously diverse population
