the occupied palestinian territory opt is an exceptional case study in that the palestinians inhabit an occupied territory and the project of state building is still in the making one cannot appreciate the extent of the dire situation in the opt without bearing this in mind since the establishment of the state of israel in 1948 and the arab israeli war of 1967 palestinians have undergone massively destabilising and profound uncertainties about their political identities the palestinian dilemma goes back to 1945 when zionist leaders initiated a campaign for a homeland of their own demanding all of historic palestine ignoring arab protests washington and moscow backed a un resolution calling for palestine to be divided between palestinians and israelis a war ensued between israeli and arab forces the arab league threw its support behind the palestinian resistance as a nation in the making palestine was erased from the map and israel was created many palestinians were forced out of their homes to make way for the new state of israel the six day war of 1967 drove another wave of palestinian refugees from their land these lost lands of palestine fuelled palestinian nationalism the palestinian struggle against the occupation has been considered as a key explanatory factor behind the emergence of the islamist secularist dialectic in the occupied territory the two most significant political factions in the palestinian arena are fatah meaning oclcbr d0 opening oclcbr d0 or oclcbr d0 conquest oclcbr d0 and a reverse acronym from the arabic name harakat al tahrir al watani al filastini literally palestinian national liberation movement a secular movement and hamas harakat al muqawama al islamiyya meaning oclcbr d0 zeal oclcbr d0 the islamic resistance movement
