this book shows that a concept of activity timespace drawn from the work of martin heidegger provides new insights into the nature of activity society and history although the book is a work of theory it has significant implications for the determination and course not just of activity but of sociohistorical change as well drawing on empirical examples the book argues 1 that timespace is a key component of the overall space and time of social life 2 that interwoven timespaces form an essential infrastructure of important social phenomena such as power coordinated actions social organizations and social systems and 3 that history encompasses constellations of indeterminate temporalspatial events the latter conception of history in turn yields a propitious account of how the past exists in the present in addition because the concept of activity timespace highlights the teleological character of human action the book contains an extensive defense of the teleological character of such allegedly ateleological forms of activity as emotional and ceremonial actions since finally the book s ideas about timespace and activity as an indeterminate event derive from an interpretation of heidegger the work furthers understanding of the relevance of his thought for social and historical theory the book combines textual interpretation theoretical argumentation and empirical substantiation many of its empirical examples are taken from the blue grass horse country around lexington kentucky where the author resides this book has unique features that set it apart from conventional books on the prevention of system failures in that it provides a method that views human activities from a meta methodological perspective based upon an inter disciplinary understanding of human activities with these characteristics the book also proposes a common methodological basis to apply to various problems surrounding society today such as an aging social infrastructure the safety of food medicine and public transportation and the creation of sustainable electricity and cybersecurity furthermore since the failure of human activities is expressed in a three dimensional space and the topological metrics are implemented the failure trajectories can be quantitatively monitored in time series to take effective preventive measures considering the implementation of the topological metrics the causes of each failure are classified into two dimensions of the degree of coupling between system elements and the interaction between the target system and the external environment owing to the nature of the introduction of topological metrics all individual and diverse systems can share general topological metrics consequently understanding various failures over cross industries is possible with the use of common meta systemic language and mutual learning between different industries and the solution of social problems can be effectively achieved a system of system failures sosf proposed and confirmed the effectiveness of this meta methodology for information and communication technologies ict systems and the sosf is extended to human activity systems sohas system of human activity systems as a whole therefore the sohas becomes an academic foundation for theoretical research on meta methodology and it has an impact on practitioners to prevent system failures by accumulating knowledge of failures and learning from other industries
