Yung offers a groundbreaking exploration of the dynamic interplay between motivation, private tutoring and second language learning, examining the under-researched topic of shadow education in the context of applied linguistics. This book provides a fresh and insightful outlook on the unique experiences of English as a second language (L2) learners engaged in English private tutoring by examining L2 learners' experiences from the perspective of the L2 motivational self. Readers will gain valuable insights into how personal goals, identity and aspirations drive learning processes. The book features an in-depth analysis of L2 learners' narratives, shedding light on the diverse factors that shape students' L2 motivation in learning English in cram schools. Researchers, educators, policymakers, schoolteachers and tutors alike will benefit from the understanding of how private tutoring influences the development of learners' L2 motivational selves, informing teaching strategies, policies and language learning approaches in both mainstream and shadow education settings. This book is a must-read for researchers in applied linguistics and educators and practitioners working with L2 learners seeking to understand the underpinnings of motivation in English language learning. With its unique focus on the private tutoring context, this book serves as a vital resource for those striving to optimise language learning experiences and outcomes within and outside school.

This is the first hands-on methods guide for second language (L2) reading research. The authors expertly and critically situate L2 reading and literacy as a multivariate interactive process and define terms, concepts and research tools in connection with theory and a rich body of past empirical work, with lessons to learn and pitfalls to avoid. They concretely detail how to design empirical studies, collect data and analyze findings in this important area. Authored by world experts on first language (L1) and L2 reading, this book provides a comprehensive, critical, theory-driven review of methods in L2 reading research, offering a step-by-step guide from research design to study execution and data analysis, with useful pedagogical features and a unique database of L2 reading studies from around the world over three decades. This will be an invaluable resource to students and researchers of second language acquisition, applied linguistics, education and related areas.
