the 1996 meeting of the rhetoric society of america commemorated the 25th anniversary of the publication of lloyd bitzer and edwin black s the prospect of rhetoric in so doing the conference gave scholars and teachers in various disciplines from all over the country the opportunity to talk about new prospects for rhetoric the conferees were asked to present their vision of rhetoric studies or to demonstrate what rhetoric studies could be by example their essays presented in this volume illustrate a discipline at odds over the future and demonstrate the continued influence and vitality of other papers on the same subject published some 25 years ago critical expressivism is an ambitious attempt to re appropriate intellectual territory that has more often been charted by its detractors than by its proponents indeed as peter elbow observes in his contribution to this volume as far as i can tell the term expressivist was coined and used only by people who wanted a word for people they disapproved of and wanted to discredit the editors and contributors to this collection invite readers to join them in a new conversation one informed by a belief that the term expressivism continues to have a vitally important function in our field
